The Third Grade class is full of vigor. Three boys and four girls give Mrs. Wade plenty of work to do.

These children enjoy learning different things. Even when times are rough and tough they try to stick it out.

They work well with the second graders in their classroom because they remember what it was like last year for them.

The thing they like to do most is play so they look forward to both recess times.

"Am I a stylish third grader or what?" asks Amber Wade. It doesn't bother Amber to have "Teacher Mom."

Pam Still and Amber Wade look for a cool spot to rest during a sunny day recess.
