Diligently working, Keith Sweat pays no attention that he is being photographed.

Clint Carter thinks something is very funny.

Being a Junior gives you many things to look forward to participating in at Andrew Jackson. The class enjoys selecting the prom theme and decorations. Ordering class rings is a big thrill. Selling is something most Juniors don't enjoy but thankfully they have good parents who pitch in to help. Selling doughnuts and fruit brings in the largest portion of funds needed for the prom.

Most of the year Juniors work very hard trying to get everything done but it pays off in the end.

Mrs. Marsha Hughes, Junior Class sponsor, is a real pro at "building" the prom. Sometimes it's very hard to get the students motivated but once they get started things go well and turn out beautifully.
