I am very proud of you and your accomplishments that you have made through the years. You deserve all that you achieve and strive for in the future. Just remember that you'll always be my little "Boo Cookie."

I love you,

Liz,

For words to truly have meaning, they must be spoken from the heart; yet those things which we hold dearest are the hardest to express.

Where have the years gone? I recall holding you in one hand during birth even before the umbilical cord was severed. Seems like only yesterday. You were such a tiny little thing — and here you are now a young lady; and a mighty pretty one, I might add.

Babe, your mom and I love you so very much. I'm sure you question this when the going gets rough, but love has many faces. Disagreement is sometimes an appropriate expression of a deeper love and concern. You came along at a time when we needed a really special blessing and you've proven to be just that and so much more. God blessed us with you and He blessed you with a very special talent. Give it your best shot, Liz, and make your footprint in the sand. We are so very proud of you.

All our love forever,
Mom and Daddy
