

Jessica,

Seventeen short years ago God saw fit to bless our family with your presence. Maybe one day you will realize the countless hours of joy and excitement that you have brought to our lives. (You know - the trips to the emergency room, trying to find you when you hid in the clothes hamper or dryer, seeing you hit a homerun, or to swoosh that three pointer in when it counted the most.) Whether it be an athletic task or life in general to see you take on everything with a 110% and to overcome the handicap that life has dealt you, we know that you can do anything you put your mind to and expect no less. Congratulations on this milestone in your life. We not only expect but can't wait for what great things you will accomplish. May God bless you and be with you always.

With all our love and admiration,

Dad, Mom, Elizabeth and Gordon
