

Each year, students pore over textbooks in an effort to solve the enigma of Mathematics. Many succeed; some fail; all try.

This year at Bells three applications of this subject are taught--algebra, general math, and geometry. These give practical knowledge in preparing the student for every day problems. The math department is equipping college bound students with a thorough background and a bird's eye view of college mathematical subjects.

Math