

ON GROWTH

It has been said, "Some folks cannot see the wood for the trees, while others have perspective." While molding, influencing, and touching the lives of many young people, we try to keep a true perspective by a broad mental outlook toward the future enriched by experiences from the past nine years. In this annual we have tried to capture pictures of this perspective. School experiences must be related to real life situations and viewed in relation to each other. Here we see through the eyes of the camera what we often see in perspective with the eyes of our mind.
