

"America was discovered—I believe by———Oh, you know!"

"Ruth, that is Charleston County, not Colleton County," says Mr. Varn.

The Social Studies Department includes American Government, United States History, and World History. The aim of this department is for students to profit from the experiences and culture of the past. In order to fully understand his own time, a student must gain knowledge of the past. Social Studies enables students to become familiar with the government and its structure.
