

N. C. O. CLUB

These Non-commissioned officers are the backbone of our military organization. They have proven many times their ability to receive, obey, and pass on orders from their superior officers to the men in their charge. While enstiling discipline in their own squads, platoons, and companies, and enforcing the rules while on duty as Sergeant of the Guard or Officer of the Guard, they have held their own personal records exemplary of the leaders that they truly are. These men, our future Commissioned Officers, will be leaders not only during their careers as Cadets but also after they go out into the various vocations of their country.
