

Football began in the heat of the August sun and ended on a hot day much the same as we started. In-between there were more downs than ups. Sometimes the Spartans played harder, and better than was expected of them, sometimes not, but they always had the right attitude and spirit of a well-coached team. The players had respect for their coaches and worked hard for them and any of the 1967 football players will tell you that this is what led them to a 6-3 season.

The sticker patch . . .
 sock it to me . . .
 hot water during games is good for you . . .
 take five and twenty-five after practice . . .
 if ever in trouble, drop back 15 and punt . . .
 black-eye peas and hominy grits . . .
 night train . . .
 running briskfully behind the bus . . .
 five lettermen and 15 newcomers . . .
 hamburger steaks . . .
 tape it up and jog-it out . . .
 now let's see what they can do with the ball!
