

Senior Class Of '68

After our first "shock of recognition" as seniors, we began to settle down to the task of assuming a role which none of us at first believed we fit. Almost imperceptibly we began to adjust to the new year, assuming positions of leadership and responsibility. We searched for higher goals and found higher values. We grew more mature and acquired a confidence to face the world. We became the spirit behind Camden Military Academy in '68.

This has been our special year, our brief days of glory we cherished with pride. We have worked hard for Camden Military and can now proudly claim a part of her noble heritage. We are prepared to take new places in a post-modern world. We shall remain content in our efforts to accept the challenges of the future.
