As sophomores, we all look forward to two more years left until graduation. In these next two years we hope to achieve and progress, not only in rank, but in mind as well as spirit.

A tradition has been set. This tradition leads all classes down a path of fulfillment. For as cadets we attempt to be as adequate as the ones that have walked the path before us. We hope to carry on that tradition here at Camden which symbolizes achievement. In this process of achieving we develop our foresight and maturity to enable us to be better men.
