MARCHING SPARTANS

CMA's Band, conducted by Captain David Green, has made several improvements this year. For the first time, the CMA Marching Spartans performed a musical half-time show, featuring the band in the configuration of musical notes, a Revolutionary War cannon, and a '79 tribute to the Class of 1979.

The band played much more difficult music this year, and marched in several community parades. The Pep Band, a group of elite musicians, played at all home football games and at basketball games too. The Jazz Band, a contemporary group consisting again of better musicians, played modern rock music along with some old 1940s dance tunes. The Concert Band presented several concerts and Band I classes progressed remarkably. These Band I students will be next year's stars.
