

Librarian Mrs. Rose Marie Meservey, tireless in her efforts to stamp out ignorance.

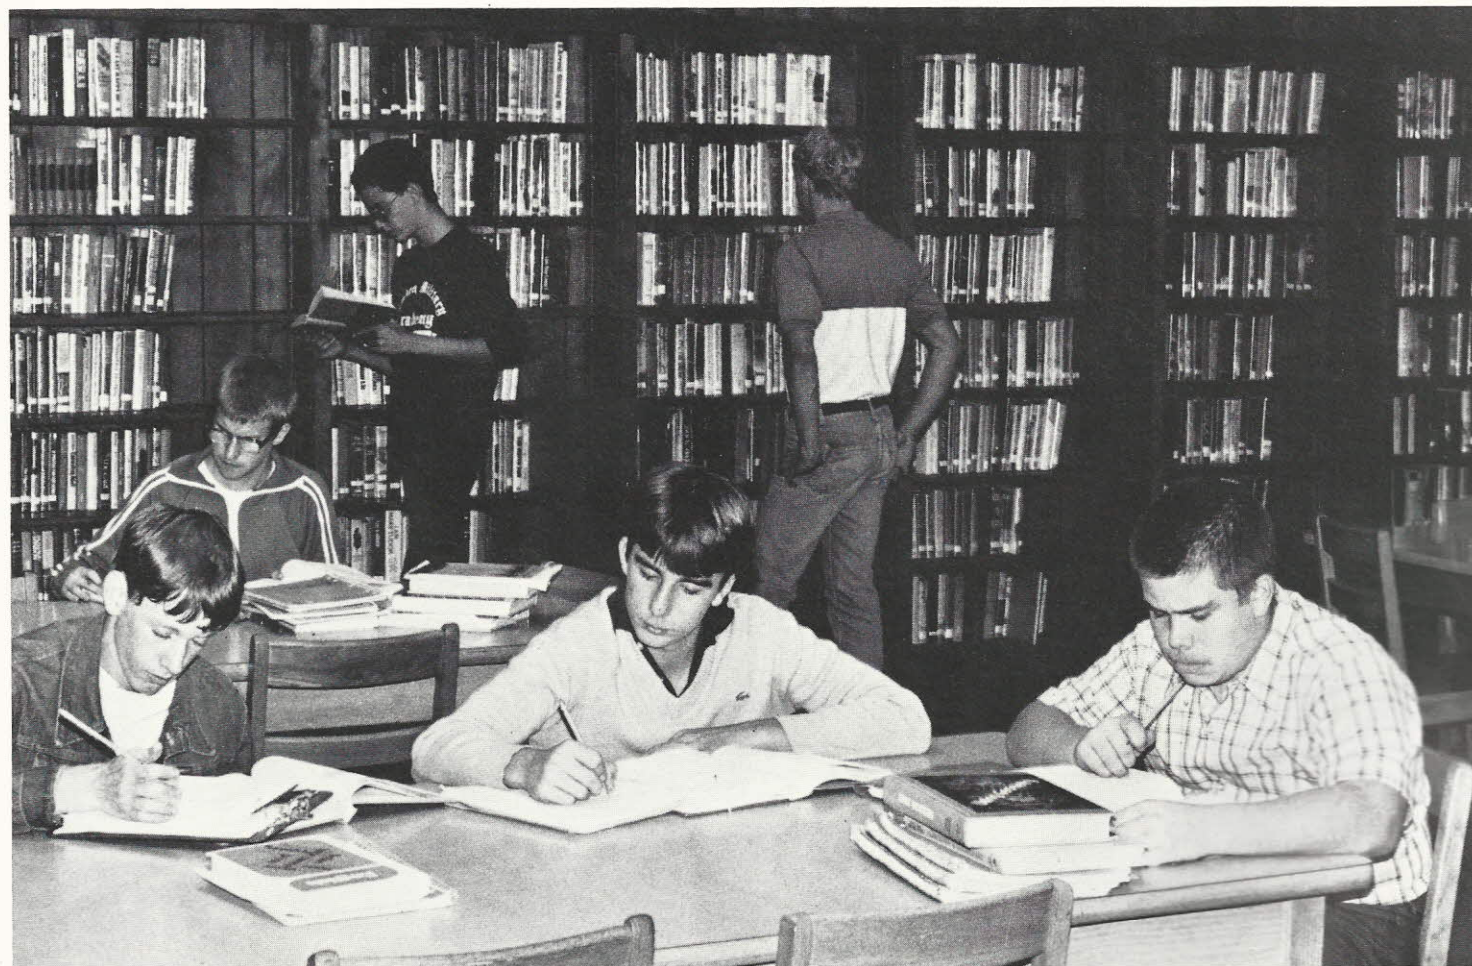

THE SOUND OF SILENCE

A place for quiet contemplation.

A moment of quiet we all need once in a while, and what better place to find it than the library. Surrounded by well-stocked shelves of books and a feeling of quietude, the individual may pursue light or deep reading, research, or study. Mrs. Rose Marie Meservey enthusiastically circulates volumes and provides willing assistance for academic pursuits in an ordered, peaceful setting. You'd like it.

Miss Mona Dorn mans the night shift.

The library put to good use: Bobby White, David Hryczsyn, Guillermo Contreras, William Davis, Paul Godfrey, Jim Vogt.
