

AESTHETES AND GREEKS

Art and honor in club and society.

Fine Arts Club members are concerned with expression that goes beyond ordinary speaking and writing. Capt. Larry Seymour, an accomplished wildlife artist and expert scrimshaw carver, advises the group and heightens members' abilities to understand and to appreciate the unique qualities of each of the arts. Besides discussing, analyzing, and evaluating the structure of a work of visual art, Fine Arts Club members in numbers express themselves in one or more of the art forms, notably ceramics. Coupled with the enrichment of self-expression, trips to galleries, slideshowings, and speakers contribute to appreciation of and response to the artistic expression of others.

Delta Kappa Sigma (DKS) is a society of no more than 15 members selected from juniors and seniors by the faculty, and chosen for their academic attainments, leadership ability, and their participation in extracurricular activities. The club is self-supporting, members earning their own money to finance trips and entertainment. DKS is a special group with special concerns for excellence.

Fine Arts Club Vice-president Chip O'Dell and President George Pagan admire a painting by Club adviser Capt Larry Seymour.

Capt Larry Seymour, exhibits an original painting to the assembled membership.