

The beat is alive and pumping, delivered by today's popular bands selected by a very hard working dance committee headed by Cpt. Owens and its advisor, LTC Watson. They turn the gym into a rockin' arena with a live band, which is far from the ordinary sports crowds.

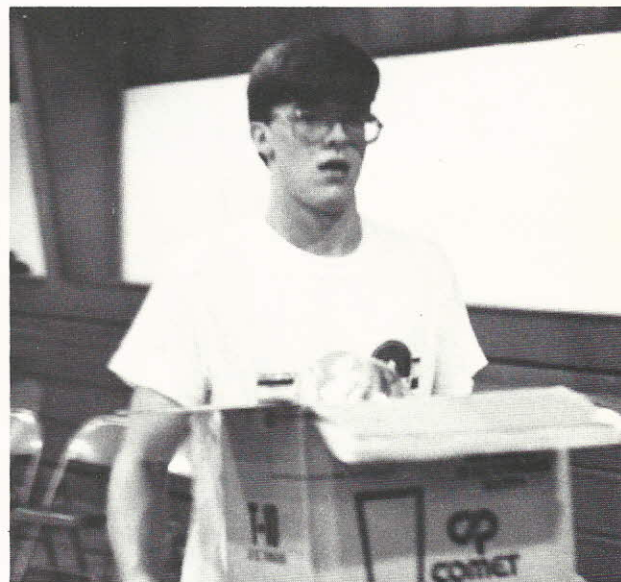

There are three dances each year: The fall Visitors Day Dance, the juniors hosting the seniors at the prom, and, the wildest of all, the commencement. At these dances cadets in their formal dress uniforms and their dates dance the night away.

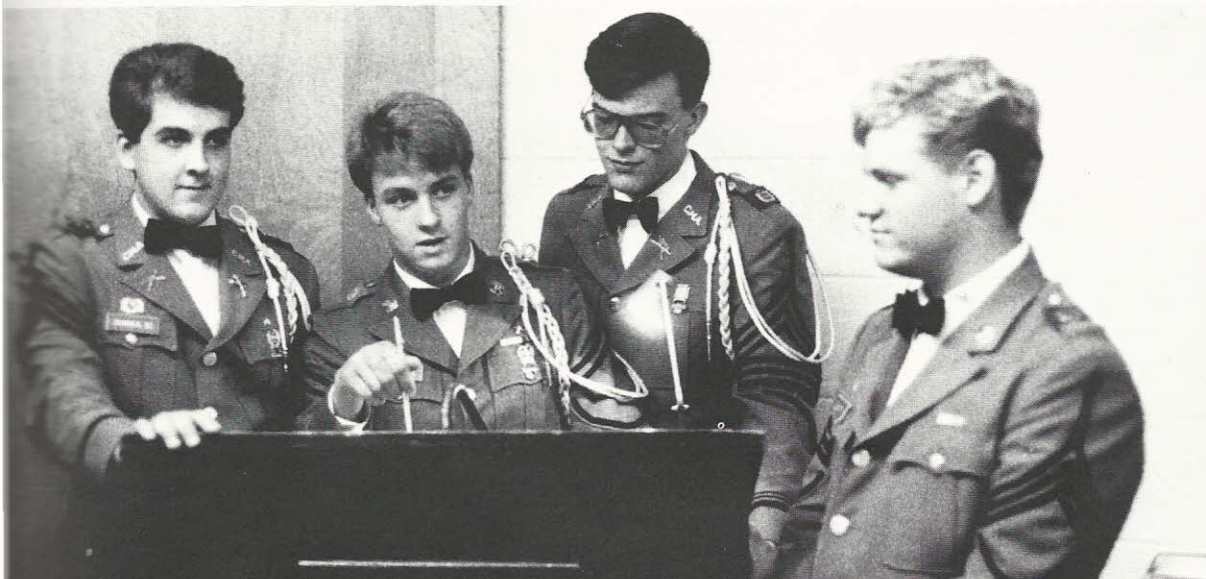

Chris Sloan and Tonya Brooks take time to pose for the camera.

The band, Toyzz, plays a slow song for lovers.

Uncle Tom gladly lends a hand.

Rusty Burgess and Tom Stallings check in Reid Baker as David Skinner looks on.

Jonathan Morningstar and Carol Woods justa dancin' the night away.
