

THE CORPS MOVES WHAT GETS FORWARD,

"Forward, March" is the command for the battalion to move. Regulated and structured by many commands, the corps runs by them and without them total chaos might very well result. Cadets stand or sit at "attention" and "present arms" in salute. They "carry on" through the day and enjoy times "at ease." But "Forward, March" gets them moving.

Here lives revolve around a rigidly structured military schedule. Cadets rise and rest knowing that. Response to commands, after constant use in daily living, in drill, and in ceremonies, becomes instinctive. Useful and
