“We’re cool people,” says Jay Balentine of “B” Company. “Our company is much cooler, quieter, and more relaxed than the hot, loud, and rowdy atmosphere upstairs in Charlie Company.” “Bravo strives for excellence through leadership by setting the example,” says Chris Bishop, commander. According to Mitch Porter, “ ‘B’ Company has exactly enough big chiefs to run the company and enough little indians to fulfill their desires.” He suggests, “Many boys will be converted into men this year.” According to Charles Locklear, “We are all one big family and we work together as a family.” “B” stands tall in the “formation” of life. “B” is baaad!
