

International

Cadets are from many parts of the world and, although they integrate quickly and fully into CMA activity, the informal grouping of the International Club, advised by Captain Dale Randolph, establishes identity for members. Pictured (right) are (seated) Alberto and John Montezuma, Colombians resident in Singapore; (standing) Andres Valdano, Ecuador, Oliver Garcia, Switzerland; Damon Saunders, Bermuda; Joey Geist, Spain; Steve Godwin, Bermuda; Pedro Giraldo, Colombia; Luis Janssen, Brazil; Justin McAnaney, Taiwan; Julio De La Guardia, Panama.

More local in scope, Doug Davis and his date Brittany Markoff of Ft. Mill, South Carolina, take time out from expressing themselves on the dance floor at the fall hop, Visitors Day eve, Halloween, (left). Dance Committee (below), advised by LTC James Watson, sets the stage for school dances — decorating, working during the event, and clean-up. Whether booking bands, greeting cadets and guests at the door, or serving refreshments, lots of work makes for special nights to remember. Committee members are: (seated) William Pennell, Tommy Brown, Mike Oswald, Todd Ramella; (kneeling) Sterling Cargill, Eric Gadlage, Julio De La Guardia; (standing) Lamar Shaw, Will Rice, Mike Scott, Steve Carroll, Radi Clytus, Philip Bethune, John Murphy.

On Visitors Day, Sunday, November 1, Captain Herb McElvain (center right) assures Mr. and Mrs. Paul Latture that Brian is doing fine in World History.

It's an education here beyond the CMA campus. Philip Bethune and other cadet officers manned the status boards to post race results at the world famous Colonial Cup International Steeplechase at Springdale Racecourse (bottom right). Participating cadet officers watched the Englishbred Inlander beat the Frenchbred Ormus who carried colors for Sweden, December 5, 1987.
