

Harriers enjoy good year

running the brass off their hats.

Track at CMA has enjoyed a history of competition, participation, and success. The Cross Country Team is no exception to this fine tradition. While the CCT team got a late start, jumping into the season with only four competitive meets remaining, nine members ran the brass off their hats and finished third in their first meet.

This effort continued during the remaining portion of the season, and ended on an upward note by improving overall position in the PAIS by 16 points. This strong finish for the 1988-1989 team has established a lofty goal for the 1989-1990 team to accomplish. While reaching this goal will not by any means be easy to do, the job is made somewhat easier by only losing one team member to graduation. The remaining eight members will return next year and give the team some much needed depth and experience.

Brian Luttare eyes the camera preliminary to the run. Below, Barry Chestnut, Mike Nelson and Vince Minelli, racing off the gun at Thomas Sumter.

