

Hugo Strikes!

But around midnight the wind began to blow. A window blew out in C Company. The front door blew off at A Company. Most of us did not sleep much after that. And the next morning . . .

The damage to trees was extensive, but no one was injured and damage to buildings was slight.

