

Brotherhood's the key in

Evil A

Tac Officer Paul Cook and Cadet XO Paul Furr are known for their friendly, helpful responses to daily problems.

Senior TC Rownd has loved his three years in A Company as a "home away from home."

Alpha Company carries on a tradition that no other company can beat — brotherhood. Alpha knows how to separate the military aspects of CMA from the personal: the military demands are there, but they do not take away from the feeling of togetherness that comes from living in a family. It is best summarized by Company Commander Chris Way, who said, "The leadership and brotherhood, plus the advisement of Colonel Cook, are what make this company what it is today: the best!"

A Co Staff. Guideon WF Partridge, 2nd Pltn Ldr 2LT GC Spencer, 1SG TC Rownd, 1st Pltn Ldr TH Byerly. Co Cmndr CPT Chris Way, Tac Ofcr LTC Paul Cook, XO 1LT Paul Furr.

Waiting for Activity Period, A Co cadets hang out on porch: Gerrell Wells and Lawson Battle let off a little energy while Justin Jones, Mark Evans, and Keith Misenheimer look on.