

Team instability makes a tough season for

JV Basketball

It's hard to play musical chairs and basketball during the same season. The rotation of players on and off the JV team put a serious damper on the season and hampered the team effort. Losing several outstanding sophomores to the varsity team did not help much either. But Coach W. C. Mobley remained philosophical about the season's results. "Our emphasis was on conditioning," he said, "and on the basic offensive and defensive skills. I think we accomplished a lot in these areas." The team also ended the season on an upbeat by defeating rival Thomas Sumter in its second match with the Generals and by walloping Emmanuel Baptist.
