

WINTER FINALLY COMES

After a long, hot summer which featured record setting temperatures, winter finally came to CMA. Everyone's thoughts focused on the upcoming Christmas holidays and the excitement of going home to be with family and friends. After Christmas and the bowl games, we shifted our interest to basketball and preparing for first semester examinations. In stark contrast to the summer, Camden got one of its rare snows in the middle of January. The snow was gone by noon the next day, but some of our cadets from warmer latitudes got to see their first snow ever.

In any kind of weather, life on the pad goes on. OD Bradshaw gives seventh grader McClure a stern lecture while OG Rhyne and Payne look on.

Everyone appreciated the talents of the Joyful Sounds from North Greenville Junior college, who sang upbeat, inspirational songs.

LTC Cook warns Covar and Kelly about the dangers and consequences of indiscriminate snowball throwing.