

The Centennial Parade

The pinnacle of a weekend of celebration commemorating 100 years of Carlisle-Camden honor and tradition was the Centennial Parade. Before an appreciative audience of over 300, CMA cadets gave a performance surpassed by none. Many experienced military observers stated that it was one of the best dress parades they had ever seen. Accolades go to a spirited cadet corps and the dedicated tactical officers who prepared them so well. Their superlative performance was a worthy tribute to the past and a shining prelude to the future.

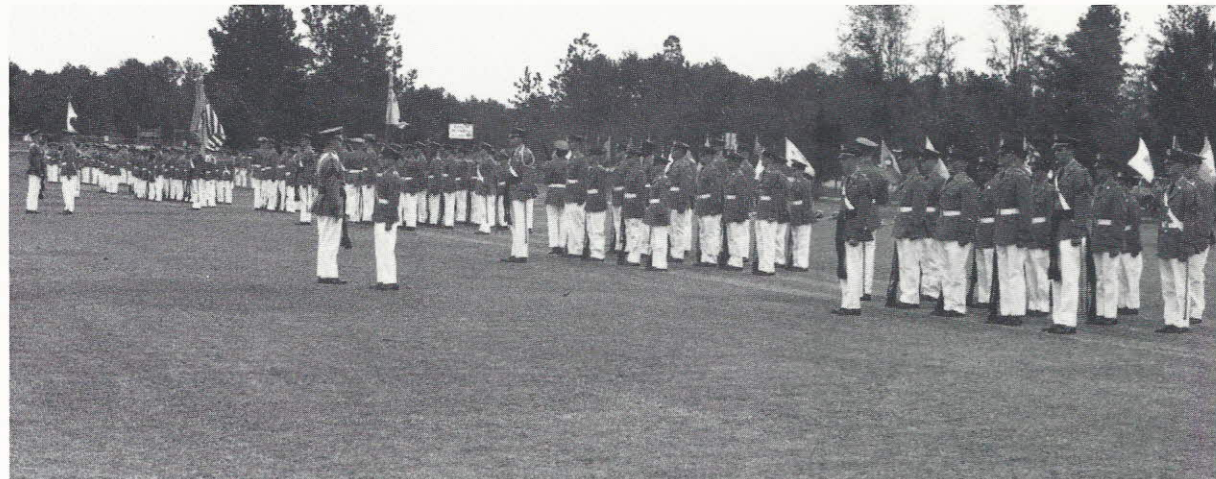

LTC Cook inspects B Company prior to the parade.

C Company, 1st Platoon, marches to the parade grounds.

Drum Major RM Priester prepares to take the band onto the parade field. Wright, Jentz, and Langley stand behind.

The CMA Battalion put on a display of military drill surpassed by none.

The Battalion Staff takes charge: BN Cmdr LTC KW Davidson, Captains WS Langley, EW Brantley, and WJ Ragsdale.

