

B Company

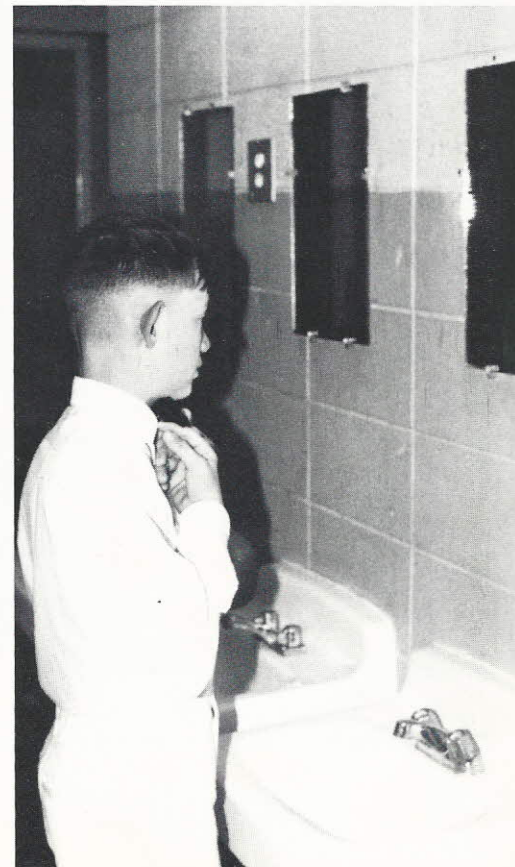

Known familiarly as "Battling Bravo," B Company is a close group of cadets who place a premium on friendship and loyalty. Company Commander Ryan Tomlinson commented, "We have the ability to talk to and treat one another like family." As in the past, the company strives for academic and military excellence. Because of consistently high grades, they had many early recalls this year. On the military side, they were selected to represent CMA in the Camden Veterans Day Parade.
