Company

Led by CPT JA Hinson, Alpha Company is on the move, and in the right direction. Once known as "Evil A," A Company now shuns this tag. The company's cadet officers are among the best that Alpha has ever seen. They consistently work with the NCO's to instill a new element of pride in their unit. Because of this cohesiveness, the company shows its pride and honor weekly in parade performances, SMI's, and study hall ratings. The company has benefited greatly from the guidance of LTC Paul E. Cook, Tactical Officer, and his experience in working with cadets. Alpha Company has taken on a whole new direction this year, striving to be all that they can be.
