

BAND

Company

For Band, May of 1995 will be the omega, or end, for a cast of senior veterans that have long since called Band Company their home; for people like Wright, Houghton, Norris, Black, Barker, and Clapp, who in the walls of Band Land experienced Hugo, Desert Storm, the crashing of the Berlin Wall, birthdays, holidays, and the highly anticipated packing for summer — all events they lived through; yet they always seemed to bounce back again the next year. Sadly, though, they will not return in the fall of '95 and will never be seen again in the gray colors of the Corps.

Instead, others will take up where they left off, displaying new dreams, new hopes, and new talents. With this new beginning they will need a careful eye watching over them, helping them to develop and mature. They will need talented faculty such as LTC Crossfield and CPT Reid to help them become what the past seniors have become. Alumni.

When the year closes, everyone will see how the Band pulled together, as they always have, completing the Omega for the Seniors of '95, and the Alpha for all of the future.

—Ray Houghton

Staff: 1LT BS Black, XO, CPT CH Norris, CO, 1SGT EL Barker, 2LT AL Clapp.

Away from uniforms, practice, and parades — for a while, at least — are Masi, Norris, AA White, DeMarco, O'Donnell, Putnam, Zlata, J Zarawani, and Singer (holding Master Davidson).

Waiting to march onto the football field are Marrs, Masi, A White, Martindale, Craig, Tupper, and Alexander.