

Mrs. Greene, English instructor, conducts a lesson in vocabulary.

Cadet WD Gray won an award for poetry in the Camden Poets Society competition.

Past,

Present,

and Future

Yesterday, today, and tomorrow are concerns for us all. As adults we learn from our experience; we do our best each day; and we look forward to tomorrow as an opportunity.

Every cadet who has come to CMA has had his own unique past experiences, which have shaped his preparation for school. Cadets live in the present, expecting each day to be full and worthwhile. Every cadet has a vision of what the future holds for him.

The fresh start afforded many incoming cadets and the focus of studies and barracks life on preparation for the future are the shared strength of the cadets and faculty. Education is much more than schooling; it is the total of yesterday, today, and tomorrow. The shared experiences of faculty and cadets provide an extraordinary educational setting which we all grow to appreciate as we look back.

On Educational Opportunity Day, Horner, Lisi, Moore, Yovanovic, and Klinowski make the rounds to get information on various colleges.

—LTC Kelly R. Schrader
Academic Dean