Battlin' Bravo

Bravo Company has built upon its tradition of pulling together to get things done this year. "CSM Irtenkauf," says Company Commander Blair Smith, "is in his second year with us now, and he has really worked well with all the cadets in getting the maximum performance out of us."

Company goals continue to be academic excellence, participation in extracurricular events, and excelling in all aspects of the military program. Grades are going up; the company is heavily represented on the varsity basketball team; and a focus on drill performance has brought about marked improvement. Under the leadership of CSM Irtenkauf and the capable chain of command—CPT Smith, 2LT Gibson, 2LT Bohlander, and 1SGT Jones—Bravo is achieving its goals this year.

Accomplishments include being named Company of the Week on two occasions, doing well on SMI's, and scoring high marks on study hall performance. The tradition of working together continues to serve the company well in reaching its objectives. "Of course, being named Honor Company is always a goal," says CPT Smith, "and right now we're still in the running." Battlin' Bravo can be counted on to do its best.
