

C Company

Tradition and Pride

Having been named CMA Honor Company for four years running, C Company continues to build on its tradition of pride, accomplishment, and brotherhood. "Old boys" who have been in Charlie for several years, such as Nix Teasley, Ward, JR Patterson, and WA Taylor, have helped to create unity and pass on its traditions. In spite of changes in command, Charlie has risen to the occasion and is still in the hunt for a fifth year honor designation.

"We will continue to compete hard for the honor company award," says Company Commander WA Taylor, "but we are equally concerned with earning higher grades, training new leaders, and staying well organized." CPT Taylor, XO 1LT Blackmore, 2LT Boyd, 2LT Ward, and 1SGT Teasley are pulling together to keep Charlie on track.

As Honor Company, Charlie once again represented CMA in the annual Camden Veterans Day Parade this year. Although the company has a large number of new cadets this school term, it has worked well together, maintained a clean barracks, and continued its high training standards. C Company's strong tradition of togetherness will enable it to overcome any obstacles it encounters.

Staff: Guidon AJ MacGregor, 2LT BK Boyd, 1SGT WN Teasley, 1SGT Montie Arkel, CO CPT WA Taylor, XO 1LT C Blackmore, 2 AJ Ward

The C Company clique gathers in the hall: Pittman, Chan, Medeiros, Concepcion, P Lisi, Phillips-Kow, Pat, C Garrett, Blackmore, Boyd, MacGregor

SFC Hamrick and CPT Taylor use their time wisely in st hall.