

Over 150 Attend

The First Annual Homecoming of the Camden-Carlisle Alumni Association fulfilled optimistic expectations and promises to become a feature in the years ahead. Over one hundred and fifty alumni, cadet parents, and grandparents gathered for a day of renewed acquaintances, shared memories, and entertaining activities. Scheduled events included a morning golf game, a tour of the new administration building, a parade, a barbeque luncheon, and a football game. Alumni enjoyed seeing the changes that have occurred on the campus, sharing stories about the past, and talking with cadets about CMA life as it exists today. Bill Hamilton, new alumni president, told the assembly at lunch that his first goal in office is "to double attendance at next year's Homecoming."

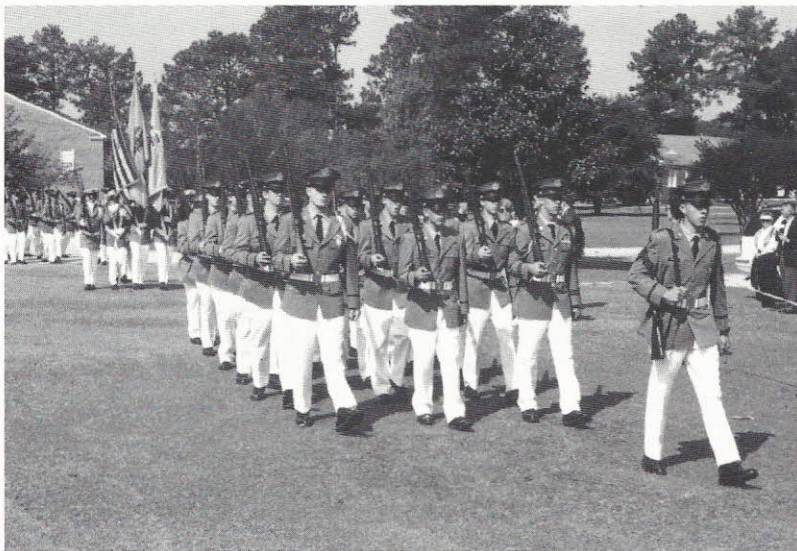

In the reviewing stand for the Homecoming Parade are Colonel William K. Orris, headmaster; Cam Walters, outgoing alumni president; Bill Hamilton, new alumni president; and LTC Thomas A. Austin, commandant.

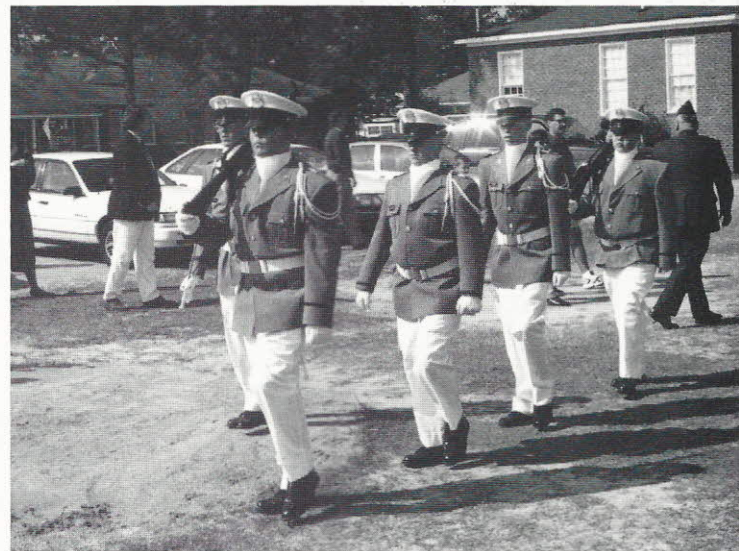

LTC Kyle Hause, battalion commander, and staff officers 1LT Brandon Fox, and 1LT Rex Polanis lead the Cadet Corps onto the parade grounds.
