

Jason Maur McKown

Congratulations, Jason, on your many successes at Camden Military Academy. You have learned to face your challenges squarely and to overcome them with persistent application. We are proud that you have set high standards for yourself and that you have become a mature, responsible, and confident young man.

You still have “miles to go and promises to keep,” and you have developed the direction and self-discipline to keep marching forward on the high road to self-fulfillment.

We look forward to your future achievements, and we will always be behind you totally with our love and support.

Dad and Amanda
