

Participation in the annual Camden Christmas Parade has become a CMA tradition. The weather was particularly favorable this year as LTC Matt Thompson led the entire battalion on the long trek from midtown to Camden High School. The Corps received many compliments from parade watchers.

The parade units formed on Laurens Street and converged on Broad. Band and Staff and B Company make preparations for the parade to begin CPT Laniye Edwards and Guidon CE Atchison pace the CMA Band down Broad Street.

The A Company contingent is under the command of 1LT Travis Friese.

Leading B Company in the parade is CPT Dray DuPree, company commander.

C Company, headed by CPT Justin Scholl, passes before parade viewers along the way.
