

Spring Events

Before leaving for Easter Break, the Academy honored all CMA mothers with a dress parade. LTC Matt Thompson, battalion commander, leads his staff off the field.

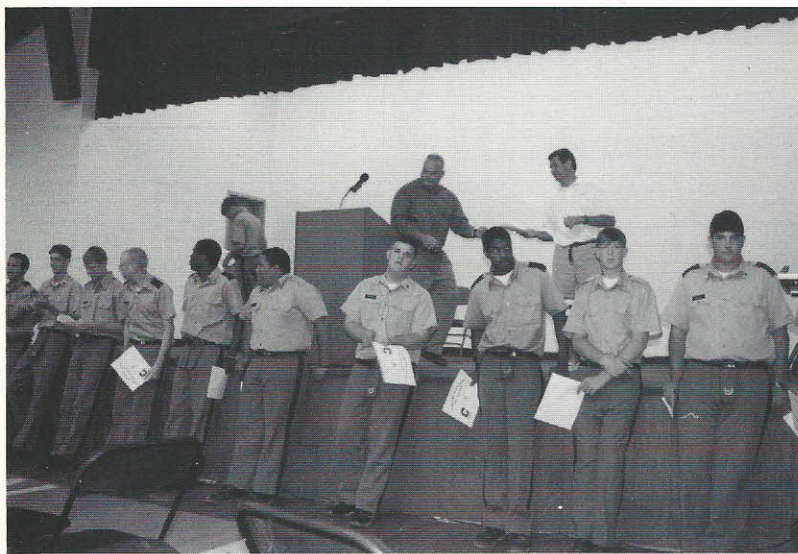

On the weekend of April 28, the Academy hosted a reunion for Carlisle-Camden Classes of 1930-1959. Captain Nick Blumer leads A Company in review.

Unseasonably hot weather this year confined Athletic Field Day to the pool. In the "chicken fight," Alonzo Bethea astride Davis Burr faces off with David White riding El Sayed. C Company won the overall competition.

On May 5, John Kasey, place-kicker for the Carolina Panthers, captivated cadets with a fascinating talk on failure, faith, and perseverance. Chaplain Westbury has organized a series of presentations by Christian athletes.

A banquet is held each year to honor cadet participation and achievement in spring sports. LTC Eric Boland, athletic director, and Coach Tom Austin present certificates and awards to members of the CMA Track and Field Team.

The highlight of the Commencement Dance is the Junior Sword Drill, this year under the command of Staff Sergeant Rafael Boschetti. Cadet Peter Seaborn and his mother, Ms. Veronica Seaborn, near the end of the walk under the swords.
