On Oct. 13 Homecoming had another large turnout with a parade, football game, and Camden-Carlisle Alumni Association Awards. Board Chairman Banks Scarborough and Mrs. Scarborough are seated far right.

CMA cadets participated in the Oct. 18 coast to coast Flag Run, honoring those on the 9-11 planes and demonstrating patriotism.

The Nov. 3 Visitors Day began with a sumptuous breakfast hosted by Mrs. Orris, followed by a parade and classroom visits. The Battalion Staff salutes Colonel William K. Orris, Headmaster and LTC C. H. Armstrong, Commandant.

Senior Andrew Walden, Skyler Jones and other cadets visit a popular table while investigating colleges on Educational Opportunity Day.

The Reverend George A. Ashford spoke on Martin Luther King's Birthday. He exhorted cadets to listen to their elders and emulate their success.

On Feb. 4 the Reverend Henry Hennagan opened Black History Month at CMA. He encouraged cadets to do their best and realize their dreams. CSM Martain gave him a cup and other tokens of appreciation.

Cadets Sanchez, Plowman, Quinn, Winger, and Post enjoy the ski trip to Chatahochee.

On Feb. 23 CMA honored Gold Star recipients. Colonel William K. Orris observes as LTC C. H. Armstrong presents the General Douglas MacArthur Award to Cadet LTC David Seigler. LTC Kelly R. Schrader stands by to award Gold Stars to all cadets who achieved a first-semester average of 90 or better.
