

D Company

A Respected Place

In its fifth year of existence, Delta Company has earned a respected place in the battalion. "We are going to continue to build on the esprit de corps, morale, and discipline that we have become known for," says Company Commander CPT Caleb Scott. "CSM Wilder sets high standards and we strive to keep them." Delta rates high in SMIs GPAs, and athletic participation. The company's main goals remain constant: earn the Honor Company title and achieve outstanding academics. Delta recognizes that military life is an integral part of the Camden experience. They continuously try to improve their performance in drill, dress, and all other aspects of military discipline.
