

Academics in Action

Don Parrotte, academic dean, discusses an assignment with college English students Wood, Bumgarner, and Lee. 20 CMA cadets are enrolled in college level English classes.

Under SFC David Green's direction, the CMA Band practices for the Gold Star ceremony.

Mrs. Melinda Kane, CMA librarian, interests OD Alex Starr in a book. CMA cadets now enjoy a totally renovated library. Mrs. Kane has improved computer augmented research capability with faster web services that enable more cadets to get on line.

The Language Laboratory enables LTC Ferjani, French instructor, to communicate with his students as they listen to various selections in French.

The pungent odor of formaldehyde signals the dissection of cats in the chemistry laboratory. Left: Spasov, Kinlaw, Navarro, McQueen, Hansil, Merritt Right: Stone, Bumgarner, Rosenthal, Rawls, Owens, Nelson

The computer lab under Mrs. LePage's watchful gaze is a favorite destination for cadets during regular classes and at other available times. In addition to keyboarding, they learn spread sheets and programs such as Word and Excel.