

Spring Events

History Day: CMA took third place in junior and senior performance. The players on stage are Elijah Kitts, David Levin (prone), Giles Loftin, Taylor Clinker, and Sonny Patel.

Excilibur Banquet: At the annual dinner in March for CMA's key supporters, the CMA Band played on and on to a very appreciative audience.

Reunion '76-'01: Colonel Lanning P. Risher, headmaster emeritus, and CSM Martain pose with members of the Class of 1998, who had the largest representation at the reunion.

Spring Sports Banquet: Before a large group of proud parents, Coach Marsden presents Track and Field awards, assisted by Coach Johnson.

Carolina Cup: On a blustery day the CMA Color Guard presented the colors at one of the best known steeplechase races in the world.

Senior Sword Walk: Second Lieutenant Bruce Stone escorts his parents and grandmother in the annual walk under the swords honoring graduating seniors.

Tennis

With only a skeleton crew of six players, the CMA Tennis Team went against schools like Northwestern with 25 or more and recorded the first winning season in at least 20 years. Led by Richard Hample and Kenneth Owens, both with college potential, the Spartans compiled a 6-5 record against very tough competition. CMA scored victories over Thomas Sumter (6-1), Orangeburg Academy (6-1), and Cardinal Neuman (4-3) on the way to their winning season. Playing at three, four, and five were John Bergman, Cliff Mayfield, and Craig Saxton, whose hard work and dedication contributed strongly to Spartan success. Winning awards this season were Richard Hample, Most Valuable Player; Kenneth Owens, Coach's Award; and Craig Saxton, Most Improved Player.

Spartans: Coach Ghaffar, Richard Hample, Kenneth Owens, Richard Bergmann, Cliff Mayfield, and Craig Saxton

Bergmann's stature and skill make him formidable at the net and the baseline.

Hardworking, tenacious Mayfield with his steady game holds hope for the future of CMA tennis.

Hample generates tremendous topspin on his backhand.

Owens will take his talent either to Clemson or The Citadel.

Craig Saxton continued building his game and won the Most Improved Player Award this season.
