Dedicated People

From the classroom to the boardroom, Camden Military Academy is staffed with people who are dedicated to their work, who truly care about the young men they serve. Owing to its reputation for excellence, the Academy is able to attract men and women of character who are constantly aware of their positions as role models for the cadets whom they strive to prepare for life. Moreover, they value these obligations and take pride in their endeavors to build a better world for future generations.

Admissions Director Casey Robinson is responsible for seeing that Camden Military Academy provides its services to as many young men of character as the school can accommodate. "We were full earlier this year than in any other year in recent history," he observed. "We started working off a waiting list in October and are already taking applications for summer and fall. I believe, too, that this is the first year we have had more new cadets than old ones."
