

Garrett,
 We knew you had it in you to be the best at whatever you strive for. The advice that we have offered you over the years may seem like nagging but the phrase, "been there, seen it, done it," can now be passed on. As you go forward don't dwell on the past but reach for the future. The sky's the limit but remember we want to retire some day. The twins look up to you so don't let them down.
 Love
 Mom, Dad, Blake and Brock
