

Varsity Bowling

The Camden Military Academy bowling team does not actually compete against other teams until the South Carolina Youth Bowling Association Tournament at the end of the season. Team members practice vigorously throughout the season honing their skills and preparing for the big event. "We have some good bowlers on the team," says Coach Ararat, "talented enough to compete at the state level." The coach hopes that most of his present team return next year to provide an experienced core on which to build next year's team.
