

On Saturday, September 8th, Camden Military Academy held its third annual Spartan Challenge. The Spartan Challenge is designed to bring cadets and their companies together so they can overcome challenges designed by faculty members. One of the tasks is for each company to create their own t-shirt and flag, to be proudly displayed at the event. Dinner is always memorable, consisting of steak, baked potatoes, rolls and banana pudding. After the dinner, cadets file into gym for the final event, the awards ceremony. At the end of the day, cadets fall into their beds extremely tired.
