

CMAAS

Camden Military Academy Archaeological Society

Vogel examines a piece of Cherokee pottery from Ft Congaree.

The crew at Ft Congaree from left to right: Thompson J., Azari, Maj. Ghaffar Jagosz, Rodriguez, Vogel, Layne, Pinelli.

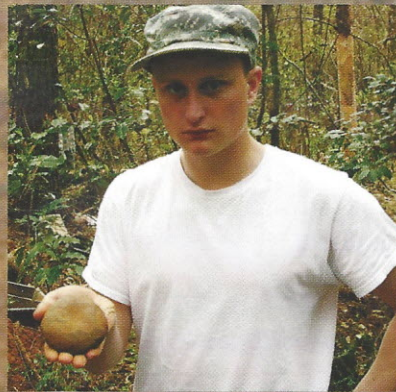

Major Ghaffar (sponsor) shares his experience as a professional archaeologist with his cadets.

Azari shows a broken arrow point and a trade pipe fragment (1718-1724).

Thompson, J. uses all his weight to drive his shovel deep.

Hardee (left) shows a hammer stone with nestling pit from the archaic period (4,500-9,000 years before present).

Satterfield screens for artifacts at the Kolb Site.

The crew at the Kolb Site:
Front: Maj. Ghaffar.
Seated, left to right: Trznadel, A., Peed, Evans, Pinelli, Hardee, Satterfield.
Back row, left to right: Azari, Rodriguez, Jagosz, Vogel, Thompson, J.

Professional archaeologist Stacy Young (left) shows Pinelli and Layne how to dig a shovel test.

CMAAS cadets climb the side of Adamson Mound during a guided tour by Professor Christopher Judge from USC Lancaster.