

Teachers Faces

1. "The most rewarding part about teaching at CMA is working with the students and watching them change into fine young men."

LTC Robert Thorp

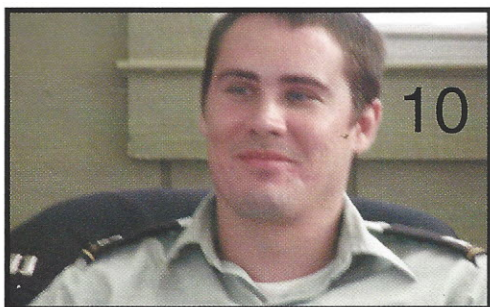

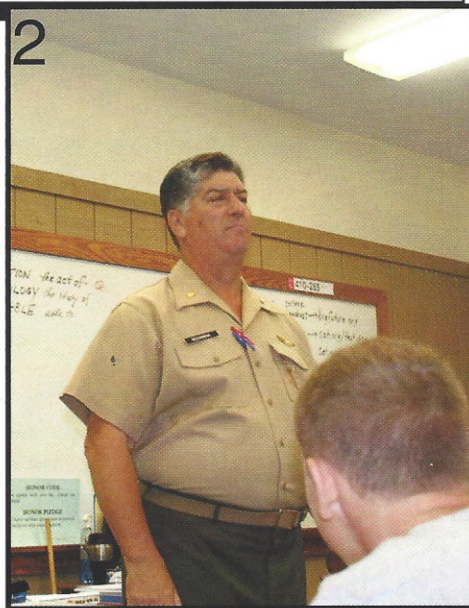

3. "The most rewarding part about teaching at CMA is realizing that my day-to-day efforts are going to have a lasting and positive impact on the future of thousands of lives, both directly and indirectly"

LCDR Doug Marsden

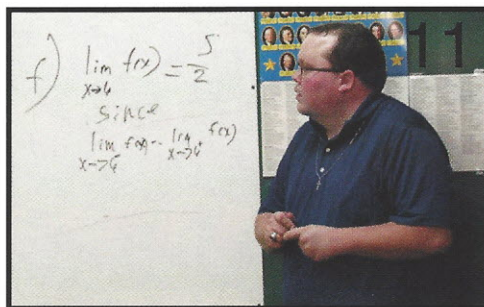

2. "The most rewarding part about my teaching position at CMA is the opportunity to teach English Literature from a biblical worldview."

MAJ Anthony DeCandia

10. "The most rewarding element of my job here at CMA is having a student come in after class or school to show me that they put extra effort into understanding a topic and would like another challenge."

CPT Ryan Darr

11. The most rewarding part is getting the chance to work with teenagers who actually want to go to college and enjoy school. This allows me to teach the course more intensely and opens the floor to more discussion, which I love to have. My teaching philosophy is to teach mathematics from a question/answer point of view with heavy emphasis on students leading discussion and teaching others.

Professor Allan Pangburn

12. "The most rewarding parts about teaching at CMA are helping students and the freedom to develop my own teaching methods."

CPT Mark Dorr
