November 22, 2013 marked another checkpoint for the Camden Military Academy Class of 2014 with the Senior Ring Ceremony. All of the senior cadets were anticipating this event for quite some time now. As the date approached, excitement grew not only for the upcoming Thanksgiving Holiday break, but for the moment that they first slid their senior class ring onto their finger. Seniors were released from their classes to prepare for the ceremony and change into Parade uniform. At 10:30 am, all seniors were in place for the ceremony. As parents and the cadet corps filed into the chapel, legs were shaking in anticipation and smiles plagued the group of seniors. Once the presentation of the rings began, parents went to the middle of the aisle to take pictures of this huge achievement. After many pictures, smiles, laughs and relief, the ceremony concluded and many seniors departed for break with the same style ring that decades of CMA graduates have on their ring finger.
