

Middle School Basketball

The Dawn of a new era.

Free Points!
Shooting
free throws
was a key for the young Spartans.

Basketball is a sport that is enjoyed by many people from all ages and different countries. Coach Beckham, who is in his fourth year of coaching, has done a great job this year teaching basic fundamentals and getting his players to understand the art and science of the game. Coach Beckham's hard work really paid off when he noticed the tremendous improvement in his players' skills and knowledge. Some highlights from the season that Coach Beckham noted were how his players contributed something skillful to each game and how they exhibited different roles throughout the season. (I would like to add some wins to complete this paragraph or highlighted scores). Alex Tate, who was the Offensive MVP lead the team by scoring in every game. Andrew Davis, who is also an Offensive MVP, can be best described by his advantage to be quick and solid on his feet. The drum really rolls for Kingsley Raitt, who was the most improved player for the season. Raitt has grown into his role as a post player and he has continued to capitalize on his skills.

Michael Hanlon, Kevon Agard, Jose Villeda-Facusse, Gavin Bums, Kameron Gentile, Messiah Hales, Karl Leriaex, Stefon Aaron, Patrick Brooks, Jonathan Kraemer, Johnny Slick, Alex Tate, Coach Griff Beckham, Kingsley Raitt, Gage Noel, Hayden Huckfeldt, Enike Domia.

Shoot for Two!
The Spartans
looking for early offense.

"This year showed me how to work with others in a unified team effort for a common goal." Jonathan Kraemer of Greer, South Carolina