

Drama & Fine Arts

Camden Military Academy's Drama department was full of excitement this year. In class, cadets worked on their scripts for the bullying play, as well as Edgar Allen Poe's "The Tell-Tale Heart." The "bullying play" focused on how bullying affects students everyday.

"The Tell-Tale Heart," was a presentation to the school during Halloween. Cadets also worked on the Christmas play around that time. Not only has drama been held here at the academy, but also at the Fine Arts Center of Kershaw County.

Thanks to director, Ms. Steele, classes were action packed and entertaining for all students. Cadets Stephano Betti, Colby Johnson, Lutful Asef, and Adam Lascell were all chosen to take part in the Fine Arts Center performance of William Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Nights Dream."
