

Drama & Fine Arts

With the help of CW2 Robert Slade, LTC Deborah Hartley and MAJ Alice Thaxton, cadets are allowed to produce homemade productions for the Corps of Cadets. This year the Corps was treated to a Bullying Play, Halloween Play, Christmas Play, and a Talent show.

The Halloween Play I See You: "Oribhabor and I wrote this play. It taught me a lot about myself; dealing with 30 people was like dealing with a platoon. I thank this class and the Drama department. . . I will use in real life what this play has taught me."

(Justin Hall, Hiram, Georgia)

"I enjoyed working with the 2017-2018 drama class on the Christmas Play. Our long rehearsals and hard work paid off. As Director, it was very important to make sure that everyone's voices were heard. The play was fun to be in and to direct."
(Henry Priest, Greenville, South Carolina)

"The Bullying Play in my opinion was the best play of the year because it was the most organized, had a good story-line, and easy to follow. The props, set-up, and acting were very good and the play sent a good message to the cadets."

Matthew Ferguson,
Harrisburg, North Carolina
