

SENIOR CLASS

WILLIAM OSCAR DUC, JR.

Charleston, S. C.

From the "Geechee" land of Charleston "Duck" slipped out of the heart of the South into the hearts of all those who have become acquainted with him. Along the line of sports "Duck's" interest centered chiefly around football and baseball, at which he has proven very efficient. We know that with his amiable personality, unflinching sense of duty, and a desire to help his associates, he will leave many pleasant memories with the boys at school.

WILLIAM C. FRANKLIN

Aiken, S. C.

Building model airplanes and bunk drills—for these Willie existed. A master of both, a good bit of his time at Carlisle was spent in turning out excellent planes. Best able to do his studying from the prone position, he was a charter member of the horizontal club. A consistent fellow, always trying, always moving forward, Willie can be depended upon to be right there in a pinch.

42-43. Pvt. Co. B; Crack Platoon. 43-44. Corp. Co. A; Literary Society.

ARTHUR CAMERON GILLAM, JR.

Columbia, S. C.

With one eye on the regulations book and a twinkle in the other, Art came through three years at Carlisle troubled only with the trials that beset a 1st Sergeant. Always deeply serious in matters of importance, he had the knack of making every moment count. Art, as a classmate, left nothing to be desired. As an officer, he was a real asset to the battalion.

41-42. Pvt. Co. C; Pfc. Co. C. 42-43. Sgt. Co. B. 43-44. 1st Sgt. Co. B; Noncom. Club.

WILLIAM CLINTON HELMSLY, JR.

Savannah, Georgia

"Slackey"
"Going to town again today, 'Slackey'?" "Who is the fair lady this time?" So it went all during his last year. He has broken more hearts than Casanova, but he wasn't made a "three-striper" by the girls he knew. Always keeping the class spirit high and keeping his fingers in many of the extra-curricular activities, he was on the go constantly. Liked by all who knew him, his friendship has proved inspiring to many.
