

RIFLE TEAM

A good eye and a steady hand are two things that every rifle team must possess. The boys that compose this year's team are the cadets whose scores rated high among the battalion last year. Because of unfortunate circumstances this year's team was not able to compete in any of the state tournaments as was the custom in previous years; but all in all, we can always depend on our team for rugged firing. We hope that we will have as good a team next year.
